ENGRAVING OF BEETHOVEN BY HANS WEYL

We need your help building the

Beethoven Gateway
Image Database

LUDWIG van BEETHOVEN.

The Beethoven Gateway is a research database and portal to digital resources on the composer. A joint project of the Ira F. Brilliant Center for Beethoven Studies and the American Beethoven Society, the Beethoven Gateway is available 24/7, free of charge to anyone with access to the internet.

Launched in 2015, the new Beethoven Image Database is the first of three enhancements to the Beethoven Gateway project underway in 2015–2017.

You can help build the Beethoven Image Database through our sponsorship program. Sponsorships for individual images are available for only $30, with sponsorships for manuscripts and first editions beginning at $100. Sponsors' names and those they wish to commemorate will be recognized in the Beethoven Gateway Image Database and on the Center's website.

Containing over 100 portraits of Beethoven from his lifetime and continuing into the 20th century, as well as engravings of his houses, depictions of key events, first edition scores from 1783–1830, and maps of important locations from the 16th–20th centuries, the Beethoven Image Database brings the many facets of Beethoven's life and music together in one easily accessible place.
